NATSICC Assembly LOGO COMPETITION

The National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Catholic Council (NATSICC) is inviting students of Catholic High Schools in the Diocese of Townsville to submit an entry to design the logo for our National Assembly - to be held in Townsville in 2021.

INTRODUCTION

The NATSICC Assembly – to be held from 27 of September to 1 October 2021 - will bring together Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Catholics from all over Australia to celebrate their Faith, Spirituality and Culture in Australia and the Catholic Church.

We are asking our Catholic High School students to design a logo that embodies the Assembly theme - Holy Spirit in this Land. The artwork will feature on all promotional materials of the Assembly and on items including (but not limited to) T shirts, hats, drink bottles and posters.

By inviting our Catholic High School students to design the logo, we are also hoping to showcase the talents of our young people.

The competition is open to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and non Indigenous students.

For Teachers

The process of designing a logo may provide an opportunity for students to further explore the following themes:

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander depictions of Faith (Shirley Purdie, Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann AM etc.).
- Explore the writings of Australia's first Aboriginal and Permanent Deacon - Bonfice Perdjert (natsicc.org.au/a-tribute-to-deacon-boniface.html)
- Use the resources at www.natsicc.org.au to find depictions of the Holy Spirit in prayers, hymns and
- Additionally, a local Elder or artist (COVID restrictions permitting) could speak about their faith or artwork and how they see the Holy Spirit

Artwork Guidelines

The Artwork should focus on the theme of the event – Holy Spirit in this Land and can depict the artist's own interpretation of the Holy Spirit working in Australia

The following suggestions may be incorporated (but do not have to be):

- Reconciliation in Australia
- Catholic Faith and First Nations Culture coming together
- The merging Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and Catholic symbols
- Healing
- Rebirth and growth

To provide some inspiration, a selection of previous Assembly logos can be found below:

Submission Guidelines

- Any size artwork can be submitted up to A3. A4 size is preferred.
- Any number of colours can be used; however, it should also lend itself to black and white reproduction
- The artwork should be able to be resized for various uses so should be clear at both smaller sizes as well as on larger items such as banners etc.
- NATSICC retains the right to use all submissions for the Assembly or any other purposes
- Each submission to be accompanied by completed submission form
